RI Pilot Project

The Innovative and Flexible Rotary Club pilot is an effort to experiment with variations on the traditional Rotary club structure.

The RI Board of Directors invites up to 850 more clubs to take part in the pilot. A participating club could try out ideas not currently allowed under the Standard Rotary Club Constitution, such as shared attendance with spouses, alternating between online and in-person meetings, new leadership structures, or other innovative approaches.

To qualify:

- Two-thirds of the club's members must vote to participate in the pilot and certify those voting results on the certificate included with the application.
- The club must agree to participate from 1 July 2015 to 30 June 2017 and to submit reports to Rotary International.
- The club must register with and maintain records through Rotary Club Central and My Rotary.
- Applications are due by 31 March.
